Dear Sir:

I don't know if you remember the story that I am going to unfold to you, but it started with a conversation I had with you last fall regarding finding a miniature golf cart.

If you recall, I came into your office to ask you if I could find a miniature golf cart - one that would fit in the palm of my hand or similar size. You graciously took the time to talk to me about it and actually showed me one that you had sitting on your desk. Of course, the one you showed me was exactly what I was looking for, and you could not sell it to me because one of your company representatives gave it to you. Your secretary willingly went on line and found it under mini-clocks.com. I then told you the reason I was looking for it. That being my son was going to give it to his girlfriend when he proposed to her - having her diamond tied to the gold cart in a certain way - because they actually met on a golf cart.

I just wanted to tell you that the proposal took place and of course she said "yes" and was very delighted with the miniature clock golf cart. I am so thankful to you for your help with this. The amazement of finding a little golf cart like I was looking for gets even better when we really looked at the face of the clock. The initials on the face of the clock are the initials of the bride-to-be after she is married. How ironic is this!!!

When I left your office last fall, you had mentioned to me that you wanted to know how all this turned out, and I just wanted to take the time to tell you that all is well, and to just "Thank You" for your part in making this dream come true. They will be getting married August 8, 2008 and will be leaving the church in a real battery powered golf cart. Thanks again!
